IACS Guiding Principles

Be safe – keep yourself and others out of danger.

Be kind – lead with compassion.

Be responsible – own your decisions and the consequences.

Be prompt – be on time.

Be prepared – what tools do you need to do your personal best?

Be respectful – you are part of our community.

Be successful – do your personal best.

IACS Student Responsibilities

1. Understand and abide by the handbook – be respectful & responsible.
2. Attend school every day – be prompt.
3. Be on time, prompt & prepared for participation.
4. Talk with school staff when challenges or solutions arise – be safe.

IACS Family Responsibilities

1. Make sure IACS students are on time and prepared for school.
2. Tell us about any changes to student/family information – be responsible.
3. Talk to IACS staff if there are academic, attendance, or discipline concerns – be responsible.
4. Communication is key to ensuring success at IACS – be responsible.

Attendance- Be Prompt

There is a direct relationship between success and class attendance. Excellent attendance means better grades, and a happier school experience. Absence from school results in a loss of learning.

IACS families should use Friday to schedule appointments, such as dentist, doctor, etc.

Student attendance is the direct responsibility of the student and family. IACS may inform students and parents of absenteeism, confer with parents about problems of attendance, and take disciplinary action when necessary to improve attendance.

Missing school can result in poor performance and will result in detention, loss of privileges, or the student being withdrawn from school. It is the student/family responsibility to collect and make up any work missed because of an absence.

If your student is absent, call the school office (970-254-6850) by 8:00 am, to report an absence. If a parent does not notified the office within 24 hours, the absences will be unexcused.

Students should make up missed assignments immediately upon returning to school. Students who have excused absences will be given two days to make up every one day missed. Absences not excused will not be given two days. Parents need to check with the school office if they have questions regarding any absence.

The school office should be called if you are requesting homework from your teachers due to an extended absence. Please give the office/ teachers one full school day to prepare the work.

Assemblies, Programs, Events, and Concerts

Assemblies are provided for the student body and are usually presented by students or guests. All students who attend are to conduct themselves in a manner that is acceptable in relation to the activity. Be courteous and supportive of fellow students and of all visitors.

Academic Dishonesty/Cheating – Be Responsible

Students are responsible for their own work. Consequence for cheating/plagiarism is at the discretion of the teacher or administration. It may result in loss of credit, inability to make up the assignment, detention and/or suspension.

Closed Campus- Be Safe

IACS is a closed campus. Students are allowed to leave school grounds only when supervised by IACS staff, or parent/guardian. Parents/Guardians must sign their student out prior to leaving and sign them back in upon return.

Technology – Be RESPONSIBLE

Students using electronic media will abide by the Acceptable Use Agreement (AUA) provided by IACS or will face the loss of computer privilege. Students may not access chat rooms, games, music or videos on IACS computers (unless approved by their teacher for educational purpose). A copy of the AUA is available in the office.

Discipline– Be Kind

IACS provides students with the opportunity for self-improvement and individual growth. Students are expected to follow the IACS Guiding Principles;

Be safe – keep yourself and others out of danger.

Be kind – lead with compassion.

Be responsible – own your decisions and the consequences.

Be prompt – be on time.

Be prepared – what tools do you need to do your personal best?

Be respectful – you are part of our community.

Be successful – do your personal best.

Conduct which disrupts the operation of the school, interferes with the rights and privileges of other students, endangers health or welfare of any person, or damages property will not be tolerated.

IACS staff will share the responsibility for supervising students and helping them abide by the student code of conduct as established in this Handbook. (Available for viewing in the school office).

The classroom teachers work closely with the students/families. We're a team. We want our children to be successful. Teachers will provide timely and accurate communications. IACS staff have supervisory responsibilities for all students and are expected to consistently enforce school procedures and rules.

IACS administration will communicate with families when significant consequences are involved. Discipline will be handled appropriately at all levels, with consequences matching offenses. The Executive Director, or appointee, will have the final determination of consequences.

Federal law, Colorado State Laws, and D51 policies support IACS policy and procedures.

In general, the ability to change behaviors rests with the individual student, next is the teacher. Finally, it is the job of the administration to enforce the rules and laws associated with a free and appropriate public education.

Teachers and staff may benefit from the following guidelines when working with students on changing behaviors;

1. Proximity – as teachers move towards a student who may be making poor choices, those behaviors may decrease.
2. 1:1 conversation – talking with a student in a private setting can help build respectful relationships.
3. Verbal warning – stating the desired behavior in terms of what the teacher wants to see can help students make proper adjustments.
4. Change of seat – moving to a less distracting location can be helpful.
5. Buddy teacher room – sometimes a student just needs a time out, or a change of scenery where he/she can reflect and return when the student has decided they're ready.
6. Phone call to parents – sometimes having the student explain his/her behavior can be a powerful tool for change.
7. Referral to the office – repetitive, disrespectful, disruptive behaviors should be directed to administration. Consequences up to and including suspension or expulsion are then explored. Parents and care-givers will be contacted. The student may be asked to leave the school.

Dress and Grooming– Be Respectful

1. Be safe.
 2. Be hygienic.
 3. Be respectful.
 4. Be responsible.
- Keep shirt straps of any kind at 2 inches wide or credit card width. No halters tops, spaghetti tops, or one shoulder straps.
 - Under clothing should remain under your clothes at all times. Under wear includes but is not limited to: bras, boxers, lingerie, underwear.
